

Yamaguchi University President, Dr. Marumoto, Visits the South Korean Minister of Education, Science and Technology

February 11, 2010

On the 11th of February, Yamaguchi University President, Dr. Marumoto, visited the South Korean Ministry of Education, Science and Technology and met with South Korean Minister, Mr. Byong Man Ahn. The South Korean Ministry of Education, Science and Technology was established when the Education and Human Resources Department and the Science and Technology Department merged in 2008 and is equivalent to Japan's Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology. Several issues were discussed at the meeting including the proposed South Korean Government Scholarship for international students that is scheduled to start next year, as well as a program organized by the Japanese Government for the mutual exchange of international students. The collaboration and cooperation between Yamaguchi University and South Korean universities and research institutions has undoubtedly been accelerated and advanced due to this meeting with the South Korean Ministry of Education, Science and Technology.
