

Yamaguchi University Signs Academic Exchange Agreement with Seoul National University

February 11, 2010

On the 11th of February, President of Yamaguchi University, Dr. Marumoto visited South Korea's Seoul National University and signed an Academic Exchange Agreement.

Established in 1946, Seoul National University is the oldest national university in South Korea and today accepts large numbers of international researchers and students. The University is planning to conduct all its lectures and courses in English in a step towards becoming a Global Campus.

After President Marumoto and President of Seoul National University Dr. Jang Moo Lee signed the agreement at the signing ceremony, they had a lively exchange of views on mutual exchange of researchers and students.

With the signing of the Academic Exchange Agreement, the tie between Yamaguchi University and Seoul National University has only been strengthened and the collaborations between the universities are expected to advance greatly in the future.
